Bundle Resources / ⋯ / NSCalendarsUsageDescription `Deprecated`

Property List Key

NSCalendarsUsageDescription Deprecated

A message that tells people why the app is requesting access to their calendar data.

iOS 6.0–17.0 `Deprecated` | iPadOS 6.0–17.0 `Deprecated` | Mac Catalyst 13.0–17.0 `Deprecated` |
macOS 10.14–14.0 `Deprecated` | watchOS 6.0–10.0 `Deprecated`

Deprecated

NSCalendarsUsageDescription has been deprecated. If your app needs read and write access to a person's calendar data, use NSCalendarsFullAccessUsageDescription instead. If your app needs to create events in a person's default calendar, use NSCalendars WriteOnlyAccessUsageDescription instead.

Details

Name
Privacy - Calendars Usage Description

Type
String

Discussion

Important

This key is required if your app uses APIs that access the person's calendar data.

See Also

Deprecated keys

~~NSEnterpriseMCAMUsageDescription~~

A message that tells people why the app is requesting access to the device's main camera.

Name: Main Camera Usage Description

Deprecated

~~NSRemindersUsageDescription~~

A message that tells people why the app is requesting access to their reminders.

Name: Privacy – Reminders Usage Description

Deprecated